

Editorial

It is with great pleasure and a renewed sense of purpose that the Editorial Board presents Volume 15, Issue 1 of the GMMC Journal of Interdisciplinary Studies. This issue marks a significant milestone in the journal's journey as we transition from an annual to a bi-annual publication, reaffirming the commitment of the Research Management Cell of Gupteshwor Mahadev Multiple Campus (GMMC) to promoting high-quality, timely, and impactful interdisciplinary research. This transition reflects the growing research culture within the institution and our continued dedication to providing a dynamic platform for scholarly exchange.

This inaugural issue of Volume 15 presents a diverse collection of peer-reviewed articles addressing contemporary themes in management, economics, finance, education, energy, sustainability, technology, literature, and public policy. The contributions offer valuable theoretical perspectives and empirical evidence that respond to emerging national and global challenges while enriching academic discourse.

Several studies examine evolving trends in digital finance, organizational behavior, banking performance, green finance, and sustainable business practices, highlighting the growing importance of innovation, financial inclusion, and organizational effectiveness in today's dynamic business environment. The issue also features research on energy sustainability, green economic development, and strategic resource management, emphasizing the critical role of sustainable development and energy policy in achieving long-term economic resilience.

Recognizing the rapid advancement of technology, this volume includes scholarly work on artificial intelligence and digital transformation, demonstrating their increasing influence on industry, innovation, and future research. In addition, contributions on sustainable education and teaching practices provide valuable insights into improving learning outcomes and promoting quality education.

The humanities and social sciences are equally represented through research exploring literary interpretation, identity, and cultural narratives, reflecting the journal's commitment to fostering interdisciplinary scholarship. Furthermore, the inclusion of a paper in the Nepali language reinforces our dedication to promoting linguistic diversity, indigenous knowledge, and locally relevant research.

The Editorial Board extends its sincere gratitude to all authors, reviewers, and institutional stakeholders whose dedication and support have made this publication possible. Their valuable contributions have upheld the academic quality and integrity of the journal.

As we begin this new chapter of bi-annual publication, we reaffirm our commitment to advancing interdisciplinary research, maintaining rigorous peer-review standards, and disseminating knowledge that contributes to academic excellence and societal development. We hope that Volume 15, Issue 1 will inspire meaningful scholarly dialogue and encourage future research addressing the evolving needs of society.

Mohan Bhandari
Chief Editor
GMMC Journal of Interdisciplinary Studies
Volume 15, Issue 1, June 2026

Contents

1. Interpreting Lee's Rose: Symbolism as a Bridge between Memory and Identity 1
Tika Ram Sapkota
2. Modelling Sustainable Mathematics Teaching and Learning in Nepal 12
Bishnu Prasad Poudel
3. Determinants of Cashless Transaction Adoption: Evidence from Commercial Bank Customers in Pokhara 30
Pushpa Nidhi Amgain, Anita Bishokarma
4. Energy Structure and Decoupling Dynamics in Emerging Economies: An Empirical Analysis of Green Growth Trajectories 45
Tagay Birhanu, Dr. Birku Reta, Tsegaye Mulugeta
5. Emotional Intelligence and Employees Job Performance of Commercial Banks in Pokhara Metropolis 72
Baburam Lamichhane, Madhab Prasad Subedi
6. Hydropower Landscape and Energy Diplomacy as Strategic Priorities of Nepal 93
Rudra Prasad Dhungel
7. The Integration of Artificial Intelligence in Apparel Fashion Industry: A Bibliometric Analysis 122
Ujjwal Adhikari
8. Adoption of Green Finance in Nepal: Perspectives from Employees in Commercial Banks 146
Deepak Ojha, Sujita Adhikari, Rabindra Ghimire & Sabina Subedi
9. Impact of Merger on Financial Performance of Commercial Banks in Nepal 164
Binita Aryal, Pitambar Sapkota
10. नेपालमा विश्वब्यापिकरणको प्रभाव : अवसर, चुनौति र भावी दिशा 185
मधुकरमणि आचार्य